

WHERE DOES CRUISE SHIP WASTE GO?

Cruise ships must comply with international, domestic and state laws from the International Maritime Organization (IMO), U.S. Coast Guard, Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and state and port agencies.

Member lines of the International Council of Cruise Lines (ICCL) are committed to preserving the waters upon which cruise ships sail. ICCL member lines have adopted mandatory environmental practices that meet or go beyond the requirements of international and domestic law.

